publicjobs ran its third training and awareness programme focused on key priorities affecting the area of ethical behaviour and managing organisational risk in September/October 2024, following the successful delivery of this programme in late 2021, and early 2023. The programme was entitled “Risky Business” and all staff were encouraged to attend. The resources from each session are available to all staff and is also used as part of the induction information for new starters. Senior managers are also trained on a regular basis on Fraud Investigation.

The Risky Business programme was re-launched in 2023 and 2024 to drive awareness of various types of risk at all levels of the organisation. Each week was themed to focus on critical areas and involved addressing managers and staff on how they can enhance ethical behaviour and risk management within their areas.
