stateboards.ie operates under the auspices of the Public Appointments Service and is committed to a policy of equal opportunity.

The Public Appointments Service (PAS), established under statute in 2004, provides an independent shared service in recruitment, assessment and selection to organisations across the Civil and Public Services. On 30 September 2014, the Government decided that the PAS should also be given responsibility for putting in place an open, accessible, rigorous and transparent system to support Ministers in making appointments to State Boards. Our dedicated website, www.stateboards.ie, is the channel through which the PAS advertises vacancies on State Boards. It is also the means through which accomplished, experienced and qualified people, including people who might not previously have been identified as available for appointment, can then apply to be considered for particular vacancies.

1. Background

The Irish Blood Transfusion Service is the national organisation responsible for collecting, processing, testing and distributing blood and blood products in Ireland. It is a critical part of modern health care and provides blood, blood components and blood products for patients. It is funded through the charging of hospitals for its products and services at a price agreed with the Department of Health.

The primary decision making body is the Executive Management Team, which has a devolved budgetary system. The organisation of work is carried out through a number of functions organised on a national basis, i.e. Operations, Medical, Quality and Compliance, Human Resources and Finance.

The headquarters is located in the grounds of St James’s Hospital in Dublin which is the main testing and processing centre. There is also a processing centre in Cork and collection teams in Dublin, Cork, Carlow, Limerick, Ardee and Tuam with fixed donation clinics in Dublin and Cork.

The IBTS operates within a highly regulated environment. The conditions applying are similar to those that operate in the pharmaceutical industry. A safe transfusion service is assured by close collaboration between the IBTS and clinicians in managing the aspects of the transfusion process for which they are responsible. Only blood, which has been donated by appropriately selected donors and has been tested for transfusion transmissible infectious agents, can be issued for transfusion.

2. Functions of the Board

As a Non–Commercial State Agency, governance arrangements for the IBTS are set out in the revised Code of Practice for the Governance of State Agencies. The responsibility for governance of the IBTS falls on the Board. There is a clear delineation of roles and responsibilities between the Board and the Executive.

To assist the Board in carrying out its functions there are a number of sub-committees which deal with specific aspects of the business of the organisation, namely, Medical Advisory Committee, Finance Committee, Audit and Compliance Committee, Remuneration Committee and Research Development Committee.

Members of the Board perform key roles in relation to the direction, leadership and corporate governance of the IBTS. Board members work with the Chair of the Board, the Chief Executive and the senior management team to ensure that the blood service is managed and developed in line with best international practice.
The functions of the Board of IBTS include: governance, strategic planning and financial, human resources and legal oversight.
