stateboards.ie operates under the auspices of the Public Appointments Service and is committed to a policy of equal opportunity.

The Public Appointments Service (PAS), established under statute in 2004, provides an independent shared service in recruitment, assessment and selection to organisations across the Civil and Public Services. On 30 September 2014, the Government decided that the PAS should also be given responsibility for putting in place an open, accessible, rigorous and transparent system to support Ministers in making appointments to State Boards. Our dedicated website, www.stateboards.ie, is the channel through which the PAS advertises vacancies on State Boards. It is also the means through which accomplished, experienced and qualified people, including people who might not previously have been identified as available for appointment, can then apply to be considered for particular vacancies.
Membership of State Boards

High standards of corporate governance in all State Agencies, whether in the commercial or non-commercial sphere, are critical to ensuring a positive contribution to the State’s overall social and economic development.

Members of State Boards are appointed to act on behalf of the citizen to oversee the running of the affairs of state bodies. State bodies must serve the interests of the taxpayer, pursue value for money in their endeavours (including managing risk appropriately), and act transparently as public entities. Members of State Boards, and the relevant management team, are accountable for the proper management of the organisation.

Board members should act on a fully informed basis, in good faith, with due diligence and care, and in the best interest of the State body, subject to the objectives set by Government. In that regard and in accordance with 13.2 of the Guidelines on Appointments to State Boards, “it is advisable that no member of a State Board should serve more than two full terms of appointment or should hold appointments to more than two State Boards.”

The Code of Practice for the Governance of State Bodies provides a framework for the application of best practice in corporate governance by both commercial and non-commercial State bodies.

In order to be an effective contributor on a State Board it is recommended that members should:

- bring independent and objective scrutiny to the oversight of the organisation;
- be prepared to be challenging when necessary while being supportive to the delivery of organisational strategy and objectives;
- be equipped to offer considered advice on the basis of sound judgement and experience;
- be prepared to make a time commitment to their work commensurate with their role.

1. Background

The Charities Regulatory Authority (CRA) was established to regulate Ireland’s charities in accordance with Section 13(1) of the Charities Act 2009. The Authority is responsible for the registration and regulation of all charities that carry out activities in Ireland including community groups, schools, universities, churches, healthcare providers and others providing public benefit as specified in the Act.

Where an application for registration of a charity is refused by the Authority, or a person has been removed from the register or is no longer deemed by the Authority to be registered, an appeal may be submitted to the Charity Appeals Tribunal. It is also open to the Minister to appeal a decision of the Authority to register a person.

2. Functions of the Tribunal

Section 75(1) of the Charities Act 2009 provides for the establishment of the Charity Appeals Tribunal. The Tribunal will be independent in the performance of its functions and will hear and adjudicate on appeals against decisions of the Charities Regulatory Authority.

The procedure to be followed in relation to an appeal will be determined by rules made by the Tribunal, with the consent of the Minister for Justice and Equality. These rules may specify;
• the forms to be used and notifications to be given in respect of the bringing of an appeal to the Tribunal;
• that an administration fee of a specified amount be paid in respect of the Tribunal’s dealing with an appeal;
• the period within which the Tribunal shall, from the date of an appeal being brought, arrange a hearing of the appeal;
• the period within which the Tribunal, from the date of completion of the hearing, shall make its determination.

All sittings of the Tribunal will be conducted by way of oral hearing and where necessary more than one hearing may be held for the purpose of determining an appeal. Proceedings before the Tribunal will be conducted in public unless the Tribunal considers it necessary to make an order directing that the identities of all or one of the parties of an appeal should not be disclosed.

The Tribunal may make one of a number of determinations on an appeal, e.g., request the person be registered, remove the person from the register or uphold the decision of the Authority. A decision of a majority of the members of the Tribunal will suffice for any purpose.

Under Section 80 of the Charities Act, a party to proceedings before the Tribunal may appeal a decision of the Tribunal to the High Court on a point of law. An appeal under this section shall not be brought without the permission of (a) the Tribunal or (b) if the Tribunal refuses permission, the High Court.
